PEOPLE AGE 90 OR MORE HAPPY AT HOLIDAY TIME

Eleven Members of Evening News Sunset Club Are Enjoying Christmas

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Member Evening News Staff.
On Christmas Day the eleven members of The Glendale Evening News Sunset Club will stand within the century mark, for one of them has had 117 Christmases occur within her life time, while the other ten have witnessed the passing of over ninety such celebrations.

Birthdays and holidays are outstanding events in the lives of these old people who are within the glow of life's sunset and The Evening News takes this opportunity to wish them happiness for Christmas and the coming year.

For the interest of their many friends The Evening News has devoted this column to their Christmas activities.

Mama Nanita, 117

As the honor member of the Sunset Club The Evening News claims Maria Antonia Loujino Massimo Verdugo, "Mama Nanita," the oldest living native Californian, who was born 117 years ago.

Today "Mama Nanita" lives with her daughter, Mrs. Raphaela Urquidez, 70 years old, and other relatives in a little bungalow home in the shadow of the "Green Verdugo Hills," named for her father, Senor Julio Verdugo, Spanish caballero.

"Mama Nanita" will be surrounded by relatives on Christmas Day and they will have Christmas dinner in the little home. Among those in the dinner company will be Mrs. Raphaela Urquidez, her son, Frank Urquidez, "Mama Nanita's" granddaughter, great granddaughter and great-great granddaughter, Mrs. Maria Pettitt, Miss Charlotte Pettitt and Aurora Urquidez.

"Mama Nanita's" other daughter, Mrs. Josefa Cosca, 86 years of age, will also be present.

Mrs. Susanna Hagey, 97

"Grandma" Susanna Hagey takes second place as Glendale's oldest resident. She was born in 1825 and since that time ninety-seven Christmases have passed by. She makes her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. G. Sackett, at their home at 372 Burchett street, and it is there that they will have a quiet home dinner on Monday.

Mrs. Esther Smith, 94

Mrs. Esther Smith, 94 years old, is spending the winter at the William Bishop home in Colton and it is there that she and her relatives will celebrate Christmas on Sunday and Monday. "Grandma" Smith spends the summer months in Glendale at the home of her son, G. S. Smith, at 410 East (Continued on Page 17)

MAYOR ROBINSON AT CELEBRATION

City's Chief Executive Is Host to Group of Friends On Christmas Day

Glendale's mayor, Spencer Robinson, is to spend Christmas Day at his home, 1234 East Windsor road, where he is to be host at a holiday gathering of members of his immediate family and a group of guests.

A Christmas tree will be a big feature of the day's celebration and dinner will be served at 2 o'clock.

Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alling of Los Angeles and their son, Edward Alling, Jr., who is home from the University of California at Berkeley, for the holidays; Mrs. H. Brandt of Los Angeles.

The Robinson family group includes Mayor and Mrs. Robinson and children, Julia, Jean and Tyler; Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. H. Sonntag, and Mayor Robinson's sister, Miss Ruth Robinson.

Miss Mildred Cole

Hostess at Party

Miss Mildred Cole of 311 North Central avenue was hostess Thursday night at the Christmas party of the employees of the Glendale branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank.

The Cole home was arranged with a big Christmas tree and holiday decorations. Each guest received candy and nuts from the tree and the company presented Miss Cole with a gift box. J. McVey served as Santa Claus.

Games were enjoyed and Everett Anderson gave piano and vocal numbers.

PROTECTING RAILWAYS

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—The Free State military authorities are adopting a system of blockhouses for the protection of railways, it was announced.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON is the happiest of the year. Hard, indeed, is the heart that does not respond to the Christmas spirit. Selfish is the one who has no Christmas wish for a fellow being. Unhappy he who shuts Christmas entirely out of his heart.

Commemorating the birth of the Christ-child, we all admit that the secular celebration of Christmas is being carried to extremes. Many make it a day of feasting, and others who have not the courage to accept gifts without giving in return, have come to feel the blessed day a burden. How often we hear, "I'll be glad when Christmas is over."

The giving of gifts on Christmas is a happy custom, but it should be done sanely. There are so many needy, sorrowing and suffering in the world to whom a bit of Christmas cheer would mean so much that it seems heartless in us to spend our time and money in making and buying gifts for those who have plenty and will likely not appreciate what we give them. This custom brands us as lacking all that Christmas stands for.

The giving of inexpensive gifts, little things; between friends and relatives, and the giving to children is a custom that helps to keep alive the Christmas spirit. It isn't the gift or the value of it that you prize. It is the knowledge that the giver thought of you.

If we are able there is no reason why we should not buy expensive gifts for those we love, but, after all, there is nothing like the warmth around the heart that comes from giving to those who are in need or would have no Christmas cheer but for you.

After all, the spirit of Christmas is forgetfulness of self; thought of others. And it is a hopeful sign that children are being taught this more and more every year.

Some years ago children thought only of what Santa Claus would bring them. Now parents and teachers are showing them the joy that comes from giving to those less fortunate. A few years ago it was the custom for parents to place gifts on the community Christmas tree for their children, and in some cases there was considerable rivalry as to who should receive the most gifts. Now the children take gifts to the community tree for other children who have no one to provide gifts for them. Churches and philanthropic organizations provide Christmas cheer for many who otherwise would be unhappy on Christmas day.

The Glendale Evening News wishes all of its readers a Merry Christmas. May the true Christmas spirit be abroad in Glendale this holiday season.

K. OF C. PREPARE HOME DEDICATION

Organization Plans to Open New Club House About January 3, 1923

Glendale Knights of Columbus are planning to dedicate their new club house at 230 East Loma avenue, January 3 or 4. This decision was reached at the regular meeting last Wednesday night. During the meeting a rising vote of thanks was given Past Grand Knight Peter L. Ferry for his work in handling the construction of the club house.

Twenty applications for membership are in the hands of the secretary.

Bride-Elect Is Guest Of Honor at Shower

A china shower was given last night at the home of Mrs. E. Day, 153 East Fifty-third street, Los Angeles, in honor of Miss Helen B. Butler, bride elect of Holman P. Midgelf, of Glendale. The couple are to be married early in January.

The living room, which was draped with ropes of silver and gold tinsel and bright colored green and red crepe paper, curving from the chandelier to the four corners, contained a Christmas tree richly hung with multi-colored bulbs and bells, together with a multitude of presents for the bride.

Yuletide games were played and, as prizes, candy canes and candy filled Santa Claus dolls were given. Cake and ice cream in holiday garb were served. Among the thirty guests were the following Glendale people—Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Haskell, Mrs. H. L. Redd, Miss Cleo Redd, Miss Noma Haskell, and Harlan G. Haskell.

Uncle John Says--

Mary was sayin' yesterday this has been one of the nicest Decembers she can remember. It rained a lot but there has been such a holiday spirit in the air and everyone has seemed happy. There was such a buyin' of Christmas presents as I never seen before. Me and Mary have enjoyed gettin' ready for Old Santa this year and we hope you all will have a Merry Christmas.

ELDERLY VISITOR LIKES GLENDALE

Mrs. Kingsley, Age 79, Says Local Climate Makes Her Feel Young

Glendale's climate surely agrees with elderly people, according to Mrs. Florence Kingsley, mother of Mrs. Hal Curtis, 428 South Verdugo road. Mrs. Kingsley is from New Hudson, Mich., and is spending the winter months with relatives in California.

She is seventy-nine years old, but participates in all the activities of younger people.

Mrs. Kingsley joined in the grand march at the Masonic dance last night and preferred watching the dancers for the rest of the evening. She says the dances are new and she wanted to observe them before trying them out.

With the California climate to stimulate her, she says she expects to renew her youth and join in all the events that come along. Christmas day she will be with her sister, Mrs. Jennings, at Rock Glenn.

L. B. Clayton Wins Turkey by Shooting

An eleven pound turkey, with both light and dark meat, was won yesterday in a pistol practice by L. B. Clayton at 314 North Orange street, desk sergeant of the Glendale Police Department.

The city council pledged the delivery of four fowls to vigilance officers making the highest scores in their respective classes at their weekly target practice.

As the result, the Clayton family will have "meleagris gallopavo," according to Noah Webster, William Schilling of 327 Hawthorne street will have goose, L. R. Hollingsworth of 2615 1/2 Morgan street, Los Angeles will have duck and J. H. Lauritzen of 1114 Raymond street will enjoy chicken.

"Looks like I would bring my lunch next week!" exclaimed Officer Clayton this morning.

Everybody Invited To Christmas Tree

Christmas, 1922, will receive a cordial welcome and be bidden a happy farewell by Glendaleans when they gather Monday night around the big pine Christmas tree on the Glendale Union High school lawn for the big community tree and celebration.

Every one is urged to be on hand promptly at 7:30 o'clock to take their places in time for the beginning of the program at 8 o'clock. Harry Girard, stage manager, and his assistants, will be at the tree early in the evening and the people arrive they will be located.

It will be largely a musical affair with vocal and instrumental music by various local organizations. As a delight to the children Santa Claus will appear as the final feature.

Newly Weds Receive Relatives at Home

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hoffman, of 343 West Windsor road, who were married on Wednesday of this week, as previously announced, entertained in their new home Friday night with a reception to about forty relatives and friends. A great many beautiful and enduring gifts were received.

ANNEXATION HIT SOME NEW BLOWS

Additional Reasons Offered Why This City Should Not Join L. A.

Three reminders why Glendale should not annex to Los Angeles were cited this morning by City Manager W. H. Reeves.

An amendment to the state constitution, which was approved at the election on November 7, according to Mr. Reeves, has just been interpreted to mean that no large city could annex a smaller city without an election in both communities.

Mr. Reeves asserted that this means that Glendale could not join Los Angeles until the citizens of Los Angeles had voted upon the subject. He is quite certain that the city administration of Los Angeles would not dare to call a special election. He is of the opinion that an election at which this matter could be presented will not be held for about a year.

The Public Service commission yesterday standardized rules for the extension of water mains throughout Los Angeles. As a result residents of the San Fernando Valley, which is included within the city limits of Los Angeles, must pay for all extensions.

Mr. Reeves called attention to the fact that this ruling knocks out the "yowl" of annexationists that local residents would not have to pay for water mains after annexation.

Lower Rates Here

New reduced electric rates have been announced for Los Angeles by the Board of Public Service commissioners. This reduces the municipal combination electric rate to 3 cents per kilowatt hour for cooking and heating purposes while Glendale, according to Mr. Reeves, has had the benefit of this rate for some time. It also provides for a minimum lighting charge of $1.15 per month while Glendale has a minimum rate of 80 cents.

E. F. Scattergood, chief electrical engineer for the Board of Public Service commissioners, announced yesterday that the new rate would not affect the city's domestic lighting rate of 5.5 cents per kilowatt hour. He stated this rate was one of the lowest in the state but Glendale's rate is the same.

XMAS PARTY HELD BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Misses M. Richardson and F. Goldsborough Fete School Friends

Miss Margaret Richardson and Miss Frances Goldsborough entertained at a Christmas party on Thursday night, at the home of the former. The guests numbered twenty-seven high school young people of Glendale.

Decorations were in keeping with the Christmas spirit, holly predominating.

Various games, among them "spinning the platter," were played, after which there was dancing, followed by refreshments. As a last Yuletide touch, the ice cream was colored red and green.

Man Killed by Auto Near La Crescenta

The coroner's office today is investigating the death upon the highway near La Crescenta last night of M. White of 524 Twenty-third street, San Pedro. It is reported that he was struck by an automobile driven by A. H. Lewis of 838 South Eastlake avenue, Los Angeles. His body was brought to Glendale by L. G. Scovern.

Mr. White, who was about 63 years of age, was a waterfront guard at the harbor for the city of Los Angeles. He was noble grand of the Odd Fellows' lodge at San Pedro.

The inquest will be held Tuesday morning at 9:30 in the chapel of L. G. Scovern.

No Paper Monday

The Glendale Evening News will not be issued on Christmas day. There are a certain number of holidays observed by this paper and Christmas is one of them. Therefore, do not expect your copy of Glendale's home newspaper next Monday, for the entire force will be observing Christmas day as a holiday.

GARY CLAIMS TWELVE HOUR DAY IS NECESSARY CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—"The twelve hour day is absolutely necessary to the steel industry at the present time." This was the statement today of Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, who is here to spend Christmas with his daughter. Business—especially the steel business—could not completely adopt the eight hour day, Gary said. Ethically and socially the eight hour day is right; economically it is not feasible in the steel business, now, he declared. "If we arbitrarily adopted the eight hour day," Gary said, "we would increase our production costs immensely."

HUGE OIL TRANSACTION RESULTS IN MEXICO LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—What is declared to be one of the greatest oil transactions in the history of Mexico, embracing 11,000,000 acres of land, has been negotiated by a group of local business men, bankers, manufacturers and oil operators in securing from the Mexican government what in reality amounts to a blanket oil exploitation concession of lands of the Mexican government, it was learned here today. The concession is said to have been the direct result of a conference at Mexico City of W. W. Wilson, C. E. Moreland and Geo. Bushmiller of Los Angeles with President Obregon of Mexico.

EINSTEIN THEORY BEING SUBJECTED TO TESTS MOUNT HAMILTON, Cal., Dec. 23.—Tests are now under way which will prove or disprove the correctness of the Einstein theory of relativity. The scores of huge photographic plates taken by the University of California expedition to Wollai, Australia, on the occasion of the total eclipse of the sun, were unpacked at the observatory today and work at once begun on the minute measurements which will determine the test. Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of the observatory, stated today that from three to four months would be required for the measurements and intricate astronomical calculation that must follow.

FARMERS ON STAND IN HERRIN MASSACRE TRIAL MARION, Ill., Dec. 23.—That Jordy Henderson, the union mimer, first of the three union men killed the afternoon of June 21, at the Lestor strip mine, was unarmed at the time was the main point emphasized by the defense witness in the trial here today of five men indicted for murder June 22. Two more farmers took the stand and told stories of ill treatment and threats of the guards. George Dugbar, 80 years old and deaf, got the first real laugh of the trial. He sternly refused to have anything to do with the attorneys for the state. "I don't want to be cross questioned," he said when Senator Otis Glenn endeavored to start cross-examination. "All you want to tell is what the defense wants and not what we want," shouted Senator Glenn into his ear. "I told you all I know. It's on the book now and I don't want to be cross questioned," he said. "All right," said Senator Glenn. "Under the circumstances, I won't go any further."

ARREST LOCAL MAN FOR PUTTING ACID IN U. S. MAIL

W. A. Barron Is Held for Attempt at Destruction Of Xmas Packages

An uncorked bottle of sulphuric acid was yesterday dumped into the parcel post chute at the Glendale postoffice by W. A. Barron of 503 Vine street, is charged. He was arrested last night and this morning is in the Los Angeles "talking the matter over" with one of the United States marshals.

E. T. Holmes of 510 Oak street, a clerk at the postoffice, had his trousers badly burned and received slight burns about his person when he started to gather up the packages.

The odor of sulphuric acid was quite apparent and several of the parcels seemed to be smeared with a sticky liquid which was sizzling its way rapidly through their outer paper wrapping.

Find Empty Bottle In the midst of the box of mail the empty half pint bottle, bearing a label "sulphuric acid" was found. The cork had been withdrawn before it had been dropped into the mail box.

Assistant Postmaster George Hallett immediately telephoned Postmaster D. Ripley, who had gone to his home at 1800 South Brand boulevard for dinner.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Postmaster Jackson arrived on the scene and before 8 o'clock Mr. Barron had made a confession to him and was locked for the night in a cell at Fire Station No. 2.

According to Postmaster Jackson, Mr. Barron "had a grudge against the postoffice because he had bid on the contract to carry mail from the postoffice to the Southern Pacific depot last summer and had failed to get it."

Admits Acid Plot Mr. Barron made no attempt to deny his actions and admitted also that he had put in four or five local mailboxes last June, the authorities state. An attempt to locate the person, who was responsible for this action, failed at that time.

Postmaster Jackson declared he is well satisfied to have Mr. Barron in custody as he feels that his next step might have been to have hurled a bottle of acid in his face or to have injured in a similar manner members of the postal family.

Damage to the mail yesterday was slight and little of it was delayed. In one case the wrapper had been eaten entirely off a box of candy. The acid had not penetrated the candy, however, and an attempt is being made to locate the person mailing it so that it can be rewrapped at once. No letters or articles of first class mail were damaged.

Postmaster Jackson and other postal officials were receiving compliments today for the quick action in tracing the person responsible for the placing of the acid in the mail.

Friends of Mr. Barron today declared that they believe he is not mentally responsible. Officials assert Mr. Barron has made a full confession, making no effort to conceal the fact that he was endeavoring to hinder postal service by distributing the acid.

CHALMER D. DAY

A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL

"GOOD EVENING FOLKS." Christmas is the time to make merry, and Thanksgiving is the time to give thanks, but the BOSS says that he never will get over giving thanks, because he came to GLENDALE to live and "STUCK" to it so long, and if anybody thinks he can get the boss back to L. A. he'll have a merry time trying it.

TED says he was in the MOVIES so long that "make believe" was his middle name, but since coming to GLENDALE it's no trouble to make people believe this is the best town in California.

NORTH DAKOTA is a fine place for wheat and such things, but BOB says that oranges, figs and mackerel don't do well there. So he bought a home in GLENDALE in the northwest section and has been busy every minute telling other folks from Dakota what he has found. Folks from Winnipeg and North Dakota are always glad to see BOB.

SOME FOLKS think 13 is unlucky, but VON has lived here 13 years and he says leave off the "UN" for he says the 13 years he has lived here he feels very lucky for having been here to see GLENDALE grow from a village into our present up-to-date city.

OHIO to GLENDALE is quite a drive and there are many cities passed en route, but none looked good to GLENN—no siree—he wanted to see California, and now he is located here he says why stay where you freeze, when you can live in GLENDALE? He is sure he will live to be 90 now.

DOWN at our office at BRAND and LOS FELIZ on the northeast corner, BILL landed there some time ago, and he is so busy down there that we don't see him up at the Main Office once a week. The Boss is going to go down there soon and get a look at him to see if this is a good picture; it would have been better if he had had a "Smile."

FROM Indiana to California—then to Indiana, then across to France, then back to Indiana, still dissatisfied, CHALMER could not get the right focus on the sun until he came to GLENDALE. Now he sure enjoys it, and owing to there only being 24 hours in the day, he don't get much time at home. Between satisfying the Boss on the books and keeping the Vice-Commander's Chair occupied in the Legion, he is going some.

GUM CHEWING stenographers are the real dope, but GEORGE don't like gum; rather unusual, isn't it? Well, he is the "candy kid" all right—he can ride ninety words a minute on his Harley-Davidson Remington Six Cylinder.

The whole crew is now moved down on the ground floor at the corner of the alley on Broadway—the number is 110 W. Broadway. Yes, we are all full of pep and rarin' to go out and find anything that you want in the way of an Investment, Houses, Lots, Business Property, Acreage, Business Leases, Rentals, Insurance, etc. The staff is at your service—come in and get acquainted. We belong to the Glendale Realty Board and are glad of it, because it stands for a SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL THREE PARTIES, THE SELLER, THE BUYER AND THE AGENT.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS HAS MEET

Jane Gillette Chapter Holds Interesting Session at
G. A. R. Hall

The regular monthly meeting of the Jane Gillette Chapter Woman's Relief Corps was held yesterday in an all day session at the G. A. R. hall, and proved to be one of the most interesting and largely attended in a long time.

In addition to the transaction of the usual routine business, a splendid program, in charge of Commander Barrett of the local Post G. A. R., was given, and included interesting speeches by visiting and local members. Department President, Mrs. Emma J. Sherer of Santa Monica was present and gave a thorough explanation of the work that has been done by the department, and an outline of the activities planned for the coming year. Mrs. Carrie Severance very happily gave a recitation that greatly delighted the large audience. Mrs. Moore, Department Nurse, of Sawtelle, read a paper that had been read before the National convention in Des Moines in September. Among the local speakers were Comrades Barrett, Norton and Clark.

A bountiful dinner was served by the women and the feast of good things to eat was a very enjoyable feature of the program. The local Chapter is one of the most active in the state, and the work is in very satisfactory shape. The next meeting will be held on January twelfth.

ENSIGN IS GUEST ON SHORE LEAVE

Bates Johnston of Pacific Fleet Visitor at Home of Misses Baldwin

S. S. California, of the Pacific fleet, who arrives tonight for five days' shore leave. The group plan to motor to Redlands on Christmas day, where they will be the dinner guests of O. W. Harris and family.

The Misses Baldwin hope to be able to show their cousin a good deal of Southern California by automobile, during his leave, if the weather continues so fair and warm as it has been recently. In particular, they plan to motor to Santa Barbara some time during the next five days.

MURDER OR SUICIDE?
SANTA MONICA, Dec. 23.—Police of the Santa Monica bay district have started an investigation to determine the identification of a man whose skeleton was found a mile up the road from the Long wharf.

Whether the man had been murdered, or had taken his own life was not determined by the police. The fact that a .32 caliber revolver was found near the body with two shells exploded made it appear a case of suicide, but the fact that the man wore no hat lent color to the theory that he had been attacked and shot while fleeing.

BENICIA, Dec. 23.—Clarence Thomas died as a result of injuries sustained in a shrapnel explosion amid the ruins of a burned magazine in the United States arsenal here today.

AMERICANS AID CHINESE MINES

Millions In Gold Accessible
In Section Once Owned
By Russia

By THOMAS MELOY
For International News Service.
PEKING—Mongolia's "Living Buddha" has gone into partnership with a firm of American engineers for the development of mineral resources. This is the first time on record that the exclusive deity has entered into business dealings, but in such days of high living costs even the gods are apparently feeling the need of a little extra cash. Concessions have been granted including approximately one-third of Mongolia and total 250,000 square miles of territory, the possibilities of which geologists declare almost unlimited.

Preliminary surveys show that stores of gold amounting to many millions of dollars lie within easy access. The area was originally ceded to Russians, who, in co-operation with Mongolian princes and the Chinese government, secured the concession. Various political intrigues and internal disturbances made mining difficult, and in 1909 the working groups were reorganized into the now famous "Monopol" company, the stock of which was sold in nearly every country of the world. One of the large subscribers was the late King Leopold of Belgium.

Bolshevik Halt Operations
The Bolshevik successes in 1920 made further operations impossible. By a series of dramatic episodes the leases and concessions fell to two American engineers, Edwin W. Mills and J. F. Manning, who have now the control of the company, which they have reincorporated as an American concern. The future seems unusually bright since the Mongolian government has shown its willingness to recognize all titles in return for a portion of the profits. Similar arrangements are under negotiation with Russia and China. The shareholders are sufficiently international to prevent aggression from other countries who might claim a violation of the "open door."

A report which was made for the U. S. department of commerce calls attention to the fact that thus far the several millions of dollars' worth of ore already marketed were taken from placers in a comparatively restricted territory thirty miles wide by fifty miles long. The rest of the 250,000 square miles have hardly been prospected, although there are known to be other gold placers here and there which have been worked in a small way by primitive methods.

The country greatly resembles Wyoming and Montana. It is well watered and wooded. Fish abound in the streams, and the hunting is excellent both as regards large game and birds. The climate is dry, and there is not a very heavy snowfall.

Man Coughs Up Dime After Four Years

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—The baby who coughed up a peanut the other day after it had been in his lungs for seventeen months had nothing on William Edens of Blue Creek. Edens coughed up a dime. About four years ago Mrs. Edens fainted as she and her husband were waiting for a street car. Edens, holding 10 cents car fare in his hands, stooped to assist his wife and placed the coin in his mouth. In the excitement the ten-cent piece slipped down

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Merry Christmas!
'Passing the Buck'
Commune With Nature
Comfort Anywhere

By Gil A. Cowan

A VERY Merry Christmas!—that's a wish for you all. Day after tomorrow will be that joyous day when the world observes a new birth.

A week later, it is hoped, we will all be able to start the New Year rightly as a result of the spirit evinced at this season of the year when "Peace on earth, good will toward men" is paramount.

The United States and California and this city have much to be happy about. The holiday season has been marked by very normal conditions. Were it as good every year.

However, it is to be hoped that congress will have had a surfeit of play with "bloes" by the end of the holiday and get down to something constructive.

Sometimes one is inclined to think that there are too many laws. The public seems to feel the effect of this legislative saturation and desires less law, but more results from those we have.

This same spirit should "take hold" in the state legislature and the paramount procedure for the new administration should be efficiency. Yet it is to be suspected that any display of efficiency is to be considered "phenomena" and not the simple demonstration of more work and less play.

The American public, due to its good fortune, however, has learned the game of "passing the buck" until a few are the workers and the many are sitting around until they get time to act.

If a dozen people in this city were to die tonight it is probable we would have to import others to take their place, or go to grass, for it is a fact that one or two do more than a score.

Glance around and see if this statement isn't right!

What a wonderful treat it will be tomorrow, after church is over, to take the family for a ride in a new car—provided you have one—or the old car, if you haven't; or the street car, if you do not possess a "boat" of your own, and get out in the country where you can look at the green mountains and the flowers and hear the happy birds and otherwise commune with nature.

It is an advantage that we Californians have in getting out in the great open air where there is vigor and life everywhere.

Pity the poor people who are hovering about a stove or radiator in the east, trying to keep warm, stormbound, hungry and miserable.

Really, we should not think such thoughts, we who are blessed with football games and other outdoor sports, for there may be compensation in the snow and ice and cold weather.

Sometimes we long for a brisk walk down Chicago's Michigan avenue, where the cruel winds keep the chin high and nippy air causes the heart to beat fast.

Yes, we believe the Christmas tree back east in a comfortable home is more conducive to satisfactory happiness than the desire to be "out and among them."

There is comfort anywhere you are if you really desire it. his throat. Several days ago Mrs. Edens again fainted, and Edens, while in a stooping position to assist her, coughed, and the dime was dislodged. Mr. Edens had never complained of any suffering.

KIWANIS MEETING TURNS INTO SHOW

New Members Wearing
White Bibs Entertain
Club With Talks

The Glendale Kiwanis club, which held its weekly luncheon yesterday noon at the Broadway Inn, was entertained by its new members, each wearing a white cowl and bib.

"Kiwanis Club" was spelled out in large red letters upon the white bibs of the group, each one of which represented one letter in the combination. This letter was the basis of a short talk by each one on some of the principles of Kiwanism.

Burt Perry was chairman of the program. Others taking part in it were Normal C. Hayhurst, William H. Hooper, Frank L. Fox, N. Burton McGinnis, E. P. Beck, W. A. Horne, Frank Echols, W. H. Court, Ben F. Dupuy and Harry Girard.

Prizes were given by each of the new members to those whose attendance slips were fortunate enough to fall into the clutches of Charles A. Stuart, "Official-fisher-out-of-the-hat." These were won by R. F. Adams, W. L. Truitt, Ed Herring, C. A. Stuart, O. W. Andresen, E. O. Kiefer, E. P. Hayward, A. L. Baird and Fred Deal.

New Members Greeted
Greetings to the new members were extended officially by President Lyman P. Clark, Vice President Herman Nelson and Secretary Don H. Webb.

Percy J. Hayselden, who was nominated by his friends for the position of club president, stated that pressure of other duties would prevent him from accepting the nomination. He requested permission to withdraw his name from the ballot. Upon motion of Henry Kuhn, seconded by Don H. Webb, this request was granted.

"Electra, Goddess of Freedom" was the silent boost. Her picture is contained upon calendars which were brought to the luncheon by O. W. Andresen of the J. A. Newton Electric Company.

Guests of the occasion were W. L. Hyde, of 231 Salem street, and Robert McKay of Dell's Lake, Minn., who complimented the club upon its influence in the community.

The Church Keeps Community On Higher Level Of Morality

"A clean city, kept clean," has long been one of Glendale's slogans. And it is also the reason why most of us are living here. We are, or want to be, decent and law-abiding and we want to live where law and order are matters of conscience and not of the police.

We owe this reputation for cleanness to the churches of Glendale. Some will indignantly deny this. We hear them say, "I am not a church member, but I am decent and law-abiding; I am a good neighbor and a good citizen; I am honest in my business. I do not believe in amusements that tend to degrade; I have brought up my children to enjoy the clean and wholesome things of life."

This is true of many. But it is also true that there is a distinct difference in the morals of a community where the people gather together in churches and Sunday schools and in one where they do not. We cannot get around the fact that a church community is a law-abiding community and one without churches or where church influence is slight, is not.

We may be good, clean, honest citizens but we cannot refute the fact that the church keeps the community on a higher level of morality. We all profit from the influence of the churches.

Your car is no exception. Its exact duplicate—by the scores—are Stromberg equipped—and are giving more mileage by many miles, than you are getting.

The New Stromberg holds official economy records on virtually every make of machine.

On any car, of any year, of any size it invariably effects greater gas economy. Not only that—it actually gives better acceleration—more power and more speed. Makes a better car of the best of them.

THIS GIRL BORED BY XMAS SEASON

She Had Plenty of Various Kinds of Gifts, Yet
Receives Surprise

By MARJORIE HOWE DIXON
She was bored with Christmas. Quite absolutely, utterly bored with Christmas. She always received something she didn't like or couldn't use. She already had stationery enough to last a lifetime. What could she do with a dozen manicure sets? Well, yes, she could use silk stockings and handkerchiefs. One never had enough of them.

She just knew that her friends felt the same way about some of the stuff, as she called it, she had given them. Yet what was she to do, not being a mind reader? What would she give Loraine this time? Well, she might pick up most anything, but what about Muriel who was too particular and finicky for any use? Stockings again, she supposed.

Yes, sir! she was bored with Christmas. Absolutely, utterly and completely bored with Christmas!

Engagement Relieves Boredom. Perhaps her boredom was by way of contrast this year. Being engaged to Jim Harley was sufficiently exciting and thrilling. Jim had a way with him which would have made any girl's heart sing. You couldn't resist him when he flashed his dark humorous eyes.

Ruth and he had been engaged just because they couldn't be otherwise, though their marriage was planned sometime in the indefinite future from January to June. Harley, upon his return from travels abroad with the European war machine, had tried to work in several fields, but had not felt located until employed by a firm dealing with plumbing, heating and household appliances.

After a year with this house he had a notion he was making good and though he was not sure, what would be offered him at the first of January he was trying hard enough for that Christmas bonus.

Jim Not a Writer. So Ruth, being in love with such a perfectly "wuffy" soldier boy, one can quite understand that all other interests were tame in comparison. And besides since Jim had been out of town for four days and was not much of a hand at writing, she hadn't heard from him. Well, you know how it is.

"Hello, dear," he phoned on his return. "Listen, I have a couple of days off. Let's have a good time." Then he whispered sweet nothings to her in a language which true lovers soon learn to originate and understand, commonly known as burling.

"And say," he continued in United States, "one of my messmates in the office is planning on a little marriage for himself and his girl. The boys around the shop have made up a purse. They want me to go downtown and pick out several things for the house as a Christmas wedding gift. Want to come along?"

Off on Shopping Tour. Soon Jim and Ruth were among those present who were simultaneously swallowed by the big stores and shops. Their cash and credit digested and converted into innumerable packages, they carried them gleefully home, or ordered them to follow.

As Ruth inspected the toasters, grills, percolators, pans and cookers, the tea sets, breakfast sets of linen and the brilliant glasses, her interest became keener. She showed her ability as a buyer in getting the most for the money. Jim said could be spent. She was curious about the pair to whom these things were to be presented. Jim, however, volunteered nothing. A store is no place for fishing for information, especially at Christmas time. Ruth also noticed and wondered why Jim nearly always gave the salespeople instructions to have the purchase held for future delivery.

Well, she'd find out tonight! Jim had a standing invitation for dinner. Tired yet happy they finally arrived at the house and were greatly refreshed when they sat down before a roast leg of lamb done to a "T." Ruth's mother was famous for her cooking. Ruth's father knew how to carve the roast in a way that was really artistic. The apple jelly expressed Ruth's skill and Nina received praise for the escalloped potatoes, salad and her cream puff with ice cream desert.

The Secret Is Confided. "But you haven't told me who is going to be the happy bride and get all the things we bought today," exclaimed Ruth, with a pretty pout.

"Oh," said Jim. He hesitated. "I'm not quite sure."

"Not quite sure!" gasped the family. "You see—" He was enjoying the suspense. "I was hoping Ruth would like to have the things she picked out today. My firm came through with a very good offer together with quite a sizeable bonus check. Thought I'd surprise—"

The family witnessed his complete smothering as Ruth rose from the table with a clatter of dishes, circled the room and fell on the young man with a vigor quite altogether pleasing.

"You darling wretch. You insignificant beloved scoundrel!" Ruth gurgled right before them all. "You are thinking we will be married Christmas, are you? Well, sir, I'm not particular. Any time will suit me, just so it is right away!"

You can judge for yourself whether Ruth was ever bored with Christmas again.

INKWELL IS PRIZED HEIRLOOM U. S. MEN FORM TRUST IN RUSSIA

Clothing Syndicate's First
Buy Will Be Million
Dollars In Cotton

By GEORGES POPOFF
For International News Service.
MOSCOW—Purchase of a million dollars' worth of cotton in the United States will be one of the first business acts of the American Industrial corporation, incorporated in the state of Delaware, which has entered into a contract with the soviet government to operate a number of clothing factories throughout Russia.

The contract was drawn by Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of the United States, assisted by Earl Dean Howard of Northwestern university, and J. K. Thompson, former president of the Cottonseed Oil corporation.

The American Industrial corporation has a capital of $1,000,000 and under its agreement with the soviet government it will operate a clothing trust in the cities of Moscow, Petrograd, Kazan and Nizhni-Novgorod.

Workers Recruited. Already there have been recruited 20,000 Russian workers for the industry, who will be directed by American executive officers.

Although the corporation is primarily for the purpose of carrying on a clothing manufacturing business it is authorized to invest in other enterprises and has authority to open a private bank to receive money from and transmit money to America. It is also planned for the company to open a tourist bureau.

It's just a small and old fashioned inkwell but it has a hallowed and historic past. It was this inkwell that was used by General Grant and General Lee when they signed the conditions of peace at Appomattox court house in 1865, which ended the Civil War. Grant gave the inkwell to his orderly, James S. Talbot, who died four years ago, leaving the heirloom to his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Grayce Talbot, who is shown here.

VISION

LAST night I crept across the snow
Where only tracking rabbits go,
And there I waited, quite alone
Until the Christmas radiance shone.

At midnight twenty angels came,
Each white and shining like a flame,
At midnight twenty angels sang,
The stars swung out like bells, and rang.

They lifted me across the hill,
They bore me in their arms until
A greater glory greeted them,
It was the town of Bethlehem.

And gently, then, they set me down,
All worshipping that holy town,
And gently, then, they bade me raise
My head to worship and to praise.

And gently, then, the Christ smiled down,
Ah, there was glory in that town!
It was as if the world were free
And glistening in purity.

There, in that vault of crystal blue,
It was as if the world were new,
And myriad angels, file on file,
Gloried in the Christ-child's smile.

It was so beautiful to see,
Such glory for a child like me.
So beautiful, it does not seem
It could have been a Christmas dream!

SAMUEL PEPYS WRITES ABOUT CHRISTMAS OF 200 YEARS AGO

Listens to Dull Sermon, Eats Hearty Meal, and Otherwise Has Joyous Experiences

Of course you know that Samuel Pepys' wrote his diary in cipher and that it was some 200 years before it was deciphered. Due to the fact that it was written in shorthand, he could write intimately of the happenings of his day, in a way he would not otherwise have dared. Hence the lively interest we feel in his diary, today.

Let us see how he celebrated Christmas. There was turkey in those days in Merrie England, but we find it was served on the 23rd of December, perhaps because it fell on a Sunday in the year 1666. "Twenty-third, Lord's day. In the morning to church, where our pew all covered with rosemary and baize. A stranger made a dull sermon. Home and found my wife and maid with much ado had made shift to spit a great turkey sent me this week from Charles Carter, my old colleague, now minister in Huntinghouse, but not at all roasted, and so I was fain to stay till 2 o'clock, and after that to church with my wife, and a good sermon there was, and so home."

Goes to Sleep
"Twenty-fifth, Christmas Day. In the morning to church, where Mr. Mills made a very good sermon. Home to dinner, where my brother Tom, who this morning came to see my wife's new mantle put on, which do please me very well, to a good shoulder of mutton and chicken. After dinner again, my wife and I, where we had a dull sermon of a stranger, which made me sleep."

A year later we find that Pepys went to church as usual on Christmas day, but that the following day he and his wife and a group of friends found a merry bowl with singing at an ale house—the good oldwassail mentioned in Dickens and again in Irving's tale of Bracebridge Hall.

In the year, 1662, there was Christmas given, just as there is now, and the tipping of servants. On December 24th Pepys writes: "This evening Mr. Gauden sent me against Christmas, a great chine of beef, whatever that may be, and three dozen tongues. I did give 5 s. to the man that brought it and half a crown to the porters."

On Christmas Day Pepys heard a sermon on the text, "Glory to God on high, on earth peace, and good will towards men." Later he says, "I walked home again with great pleasure, and there dined by my wife's bedside with great content having a mess of brave plum-porridge and a roasted pullet for dinner, and I sent for a mince pie abroad, my wife not being well, to make any herself yet." Evidently his wife soon recovered, for she was able to join him at a theatre party on the 28th of that month.

Here's Another
Many times Pepys held celebration before Christmas. Thus on the 24th of the month, 1665, we find he made this entry:

"Twenty-fourth, Sunday. To dinner, my landlady and her daughter with me and had mince pies, and very merry at a mischance her young son had, in tearing of his new coat quite down the outside of his sleeve in the whole cloth. Then to church and placed myself in the parson's pew under the pulpit, to hear Mrs. Chamberlain in the next pew singing who is the daughter to Sir John Bunce, of whom I have heard much, and indeed she sings finely."

Mince pies were certainly Pepys' favorites. His wife seemed to have gone to great measures to provide her husband with his mince pie. In December, 1666, he wrote:

"Twenty-fifth, Christmas Day. Lay pretty long in bed and then rose, leaving my wife desirous of sleep, having sat up till 4 this morning, seeing her maids make mince pies. I to church, where our parson Mills made a good sermon. Then home, and dined well on some ribs of beef roasted, and mince pies; only my wife, brother, and Barker, and plenty of good wine of my own, and my heart full of true joy; and thanks to God Almighty for the goodness of my condition at this day."

At Queen's Chapel
In 1667 Pepys spent Christmas eve at the Queen's chapel and there witnessed a religious presentation of the advent of our Lord. He mentions his amazement at the mixture of the crowd, there being many footman and beggar, with here and there a fine lady, the clergy and noble with the Queen and her ladies. Pepys was most concerned about his pockets being picked. The "shew" as he called it lasted until early morning when he finally took a coach after drinking some burnt wine at the Rose Tavern door. He begins his diary for the 26th with his ride home in the moonlight and he stopped and "dropped money at five or six places which he (I) was the willinger to do, it being Christmas-day." His wife was asleep when he arrived but Jane, his house maid, was making pies and in all probability mince pies. He retired and rose again about 9, and "to church, and there heard a dull sermon of Mr. Mills, but a great many fine people at church, and so home."

Christmas seemed to be celebrated very quietly in England if we are to take Pepys' activities as an example. It is to be remembered that England was at that time going through a period of reconstruction politically with the restoration of the monarchy under Charles the First. Christmas celebrations were not as highly developed as they were later, when we find the joyous and hearty and even lively affairs which are recorded by Dickens and Irving.

Here's a Good One; Try to Believe It

LAKE WALES, Fla.—Black bass in the vicinity of Lake Wales have become exceedingly voracious, according to Milton Henry, farmer, living near here. Henry advises all women with feathers on their hats to keep away from a large lake that constitutes a part of his farm. He declares this story to be true:

While plowing out sweet potatoes a few days ago he heard the cries of a bird and considerable splashing in the water near shore. His quick attention revealed that a black bass had leaped from the water and grabbed a blackbird sitting on a reed bent just over the lake's surface. The bird had been dragged into the water and was struck at by the fish several times before Henry waded to its rescue. The bird later died and the farmer exhibited it to his friends to substantiate his story.

BRITAIN BOSS OF AIR, CLAIM MADE

Head of U. S. Aviation Corps Says Turk Advance Checked by Planes

By PAUL H. EGOLF
For International News Service.
PHILADELPHIA — Air power saved the day for the British during the recent Near East crisis, according to General William A. Mitchell, chief of the U. S. Army Air Service, who stopped here recently to inspect the new aviation field at Media.

Great Britain has turned over the entire administration of Mesopotamia to the Royal Air Force, General Mitchell said, with the result that at Bagdad there is a concentration of air power that reassures the integrity of the British empire for the present.

Bagdad as Center
With Bagdad as a center the sphere of British influence in the air is within a radius of 500 miles, the general explained, which includes Anatolia, the Bosphorus and the Black Sea. It was not fear of the British army or navy that halted Mustapha Kemal in his march on Constantinople, he said, but the knowledge that away to the east lay a power against which the triumphant Turkish Nationalist army was helpless.

How effective the Royal Air Force has become was exemplified in the surrender of the Mad Mullah in Africa, General Mitchell continued. The Mad Mullah for years had defied all efforts to capture him, and had cost the British government millions of pounds in fighting him.

Planes Route Mullah
Finally a single squadron of the Royal Air Force was detailed to finish him. After a week, during which the Mullah's forces were relentlessly pursued and continually bombed, he surrendered unconditionally.

Great Britain now has as great power in the air as her navy, once had on the sea, according to General Mitchell. Due to the fact that London is now only about forty minutes' flight from the continent, the future air force of England must be four or five times that of other powers if she is to be safe against aerial attack.

Germany as an air power is no longer to be feared, the general said, so long as she is held to the treaty terms, but, to use his own expression, "if she ever lets that inventive faculty of hers have full scope and secures air dominion, good-bye to everyone else!"

Boston Church Gets Ancient Gold Cloth

BOSTON—A gold-embroidered cloth of unusual beauty, used for more than 250 years in the Unitarian church at Kolozsar, Rumania, the oldest Unitarian church in the world, has been presented to King's chapel, of the local church.

The Rev. Dr. Harold E. B. Speight, assistant pastor of that church, brought it from Rumania this summer.

ROMANCES ON S. S. AMERICA

Miss Doris Simoni boarded the S. S. America at Naples and at the end of the first day was rather well acquainted with Second Captain Gondolin Nicholas. The sixth day out he proposed and just before the ship reached her berth at New York, Miss Simoni and the captain announced their engagement.

"Accepted by wireless" or a radio romance, describes the "affaire de coeur" of Miss Velia Fava, who returned to New York on the S. S. America, after a five months' pleasure tour abroad. While the ship was yet a few miles out of New York, Miss Fava received a wireless proposal from her sweetheart. The radio carried the affirmative reply.

Filipinos Fear to Drop From K. K. K.

HONOLULU — Filipinos here are being terrorized by the "Filipino Ku Klux Klan," an organization which is reported to have been operating for the last two months.

The organization is reported to have in excess of 2000 members on the Island of Oahu, according to Claus Roberts, deputy city and county attorney, who was appealed to by a Filipino plantation laborer, who claims to be a victim of the Klan.

Roberts said that this was not the first time he had been appealed to, adding that several Filipino members of the society, desirous of quitting, had appealed for protection. The headquarters of the society, it is alleged, is at a small plantation camp, Watertown, about a quarter of a mile from the United States naval base at Pearl Harbor.

One Filipino, who has been missing from Watertown for two weeks, is said to have been a member of the society, and the information given Roberts is that this man was buried alive for violating rules. Reports from other places on this island are that members of the society have been tied to the stake and whipped, that others have been held in confinement and other forms of punishment inflicted on persons blacklisted by the society.

Big Milk Shipment Is Made in East

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Eight thousand six hundred and forty quart bottles of milk, constituting the largest refrigerator carload of bottled milk ever sent out of Brattleboro in one day, were shipped out of here recently to Springfield, Mass., by the Windham County Co-operative Milk Producers' association. The milk plant was established two years ago, and the business this year has exceeded $250,000.

A speed of 1200 miles an hour will be entirely possible in aircraft within the next twenty-five years, according to Professor F. W. Pawlowski, of the aeronautical engineering department of the University of Michigan.

May Make Plymouth Main British Port

LONDON—Plymouth has made up its mind to be one of the world's great ports. Its ambition has been fired by the enormous docks about to be constructed at Southampton.

Eminent engineers have reported that the greatest Atlantic liners can enter the port at any hour of the twenty-four, because there is perpetual adequacy of water depth, without having to wait for tide conditions, as is the case at Liverpool and Southampton.

Nautical and navigation experts have examined the scheme in regard to the steamship side. Their verdict is that Plymouth is as near perfection as a port could be from the navigator's viewpoint. There is an unvarying depth of water found at no other port.

Nautical authorities say that the adoption of Plymouth as a port would mean a reduction of twenty-four hours in the round journey between England and the United States. This represents not only greater expedition for travelers but an immense saving to a company with a large fleet of transatlantic steamers.

The present plan under consideration is to cut out Cherbourg as a port of call and to run the ships straight into Plymouth, where the Continental passengers could be transhipped into specially equipped Channel steamers.

The cost of the construction would be several million pounds.

Radium Mine Found In New Hampshire

BERLIN, New Hampshire — The romantic hope that made the "Forty-niners" leave all for a gleaming yellow trickle in the sand pervades the atmosphere around Kate's Hill, four miles from here.

At the foot of the hill Edward Caron, a French-Canadian, has discovered a "radium mine," which U. S. officials declare contains the real thing. Caron, who is 38 years old and has spent a portion of his life in unsuccessfully seeking gold in the Canadian Northwest, again has hope of finding a fortune, this time in the far more precious mineral.

THE BIRDS' CHRISTMAS TREE

What is the longest day in the year?

If you are about to place it somewhere in June or July let me assure you that you are on the wrong track.

The longest day in the year is December 24. I have it on double authority, the assurance of four assorted nieces and nephews, and the memory of them when I, too, felt that I simply could not wait one minute longer for Christmas to come.

How to assuage this impatience is problem 799,492 in the parents' book of a million and one problems.

Of course there are several answers to it.

One, as I indicated last week, is to let the children decorate their own tree.

The Birds' Presents

But perhaps that has already been done. If so here is another solution that never failed to delight me in my own childhood. There was a small fir tree in the yard and we were allowed to decorate it for the birds. We tied bits of gay colored worsted all over it to appeal to their sense of the aesthetic, and for more substantial gifts we hung bits of bread or cake and perhaps an apple or two. We did not know how highly the birds would have appreciated a ball of fat or suet, but in these days of bird study that would, of course, be one of the gifts.

That Kind of a Mother

True it was some bother for mother to supply us with the various accessories for the Birds' Christmas Tree but after we once got them we were outdoors and, as she used to remark feelingly but not unkindly, out from under her feet. Besides she was the kind of mother who was always ready to take a little extra bother to help her children carry out their ideas. It was all the children in the neighborhood who trimmed the tree, but it was my mother who gave us the supplies. That's the kind of a mother she was.

Another expression of the Christmas spirit that we always enjoyed, but I am afraid I cannot suggest for many of my readers, was the spreading of a day before Christmas dinner for the hens. We did not bother with any worsted, we had no illusions about what would interest a Plymouth Rock hen. We knew. And we surely showed those hens a good time.

Across the Widening ears

As I write I can see that backyard in a New England town, I can see those beady eyes glancing greedily about and those speckled heads bobbing up and down, and the big rooster of whom we were all afraid (the once challenged grandfather to mortal combat and nearly worsted the old gentleman) and I can feel the raw cold of a December day with snow in the air.

Queer, how even simple funny memories like these take on a certain beauty as we see them across an ever widening vista of years.

Of course it will be some bother to help the children hunt up worsted and give them cake and suet for the Birds' Christmas tree. But some day when your children will look back over a widening vista of years little things like the Birds' Christmas tree will stand out, and they will be glad you were that kind of a mother.

BACK FROM TRIP TO JAPAN

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

DRESSING TABLE NOVELTIES
last is lovely for an elderly woman, silver on rose pink or deep violet.

Catherine—Eczema should be treated by a physician and not left to home remedy experiments. Sarah T. S.—Consult your dentist about the merits of the different tooth pastes. If you cannot do this, test some of the many anti-septic pastes on the market, most of them are excellent for keeping the gums firm.

Healthy Hair—When using a vibrator on the scalp give a deep treatment as it is stimulating. You can get much the same effect by massaging the scalp yourself, but it will mean effort and should be kept up for a longer time. When using the vibrator on the face give a light treatment. One as deep as that for the scalp is not what the skin needs and may cause an enlargement of the tiny veins under the skin. This precaution is given when the hand vibrator is used as the tendency is to rest the weight on the face while treating.

Bessie—The only way to have your switch dyed would be to have it done professionally.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, so if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

SUNDAY DINNER MENU

Celery Crackers Oyster Stew

Roast Leg of Pork

Jellied Apple Sauce

Candied Sweet Potatoes

Creamed Onions

Stuffed Egg Plant

Orange and Celery Salad

Banana Ice Cream

After Dinner Coffee

Oyster Stew—Clean one quart of oysters by placing in a colander and pouring over one cup cold water. Carefully pick over oysters, reserve the liquor and heat to boiling point; strain through double cheese cloth, add oysters with skimmer and put in tureen and four tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Add oyster liquor, strained a second time, and three cups of scalded milk. Serve with oyster crackers.

Jellied Apple Sauce—To three cups of hot apple sauce, add one-eighth teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup sugar and one tablespoon gelatin which has been softened in four tablespoons cold water and dissolved in hot water. Stir well and turn into small wetted moulds and set aside to cool and harden. When ready to serve, remove from moulds and place around the roast, garnishing all with sprigs of parsley.

Roast Leg of Pork—Select a leg cut from a very young pork weighing 6 or 7 pounds. Score deeply over rind side. Place on rack in double roaster, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge lightly with flour and pour around one-half cup hot water. Cover closely and cook in moderate oven, allowing thirty-five minutes to the pound. (Baste every ten minutes with drippings in pan if open pan is used). Brown richly the last half hour of cooking, by increasing the heat, basting carefully, however, not to scorch the meat.

Creamed Onions—Peel small, white onions. Cover with cold water; bring to boiling point; drain; again cover with cold water and again bring to boiling point and drain. Then cover with boiling water, add one-half teaspoon salt and cook over slow fire until tender. Drain. Blend one and one-half teaspoon butter with two teaspoons flour, then add, gradually, while stirring constantly one-half cup rich milk. Turn in hot serving dish and sprinkle with paprika.

Orange and Celery Salad—Remove the pulp from five medium-sized oranges and chill thoroughly. When ready to serve add two tablespoons powdered sugar, two tablespoons finely chopped mint leaves and two tablespoons lemon juice, mix and add one cup of finely chopped celery which has been marinated with French dressing. Toss lightly together and serve in crisp or crisp lettuce cups.

Banana Ice-Cream—Remove the skins from four large bananas and scrape, then force through a fine sieve. To the banana pulp add one cup of sugar, one and one-half tablespoons lemon juice, a few grains of salt and one quart of rich cream. Turn into freezer, fasten cover securely and freeze, using three parts finely crushed ice to one part of rock salt, which insures a smooth, fine grained consistency. Serve in coupe glasses and garnish with cubes of banana and candied cherries.

Nut Wafers—Cream three tablespoons butter with five tablespoons powdered sugar, then add, drop by drop, three tablespoons milk. Then stir in nine tablespoons flour, or as much as is necessary to make a drop batter. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered baking sheet or in shallow baking pan; sprinkle with finely chopped nuts; dust lightly with cinnamon and bake in slow oven until browned.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:

"For many years I weighed around 140 pounds (am 5 feet 3 inches tall) until four years ago. I married, left my office work and settled down to keeping house in a modern bungalow. In a couple of years I suddenly realized to my dismay that my weight was 200, my feet hurt so badly I did little walking, I was nervous, irritable, easily tired, wanted to do nothing but eat or sleep, and worst of all my menstruation periods were sometimes many months apart or perhaps I'd flow a month or six weeks. Everything was wrong.

"I spent all I could get and still things were not improved, until I had to stop. Then I saw your articles. I have followed them and I have lost 40 pounds in four months.

"My feet no longer hurt, I wear any kind of shoe, walk a lot, my nerves are a thing of the past, my skin is improved 100 per cent, I'm a fit companion now to live with, and last but not least, for the past three months, my periods have been perfectly normal in every respect. I am beginning to hope again that my dearest wish will be gratified and I can have a child.

"How can I ever thank you enough? No words of mine can express my gratefulness to you. No money could pay you for what your advice has done for me and I shall always be eternally grateful.

"The history of Mrs. C.'s case is the history of countless others and there are some valuable lessons to be learned from it. I shall point them out to you.

She gained 60 pounds in two years. Thirty pounds a year. One pound of food is approximately 4000 calories. Thirty pounds would be 120,000 calories. Therefore she ate 120,000 calories more than she needed in the year's time. That is a little over 300 calories a day. Not so much, apparently, but see what it did. Three extra pats of butter or three extra slices of bread or 300 C.'s of any food over one's maintenance diet every day, certainly leave visible and uncomfortable evidence behind.

The nervousness and irritability and the wanting to do nothing but eat and sleep, are all common to excess weight at all times.

Her menstrual history is not unusual. The history, both of the irregularities and delay when she was very much overweight, and the great improvement after reducing weight, is also not unusual.

Now let me tell you something that will make you very happy. Mrs. C. I have had a word from at least six of the followers telling me that to their great joy and happiness they had become pregnant after reducing their weight. They had thought they were barren and had given up hopes of having children. So perhaps your dearest wish may be gratified also.

Mrs. B. O.—Have you our instructions on how to gain weight? If not, send for them in the usual manner. There are so many causes for headache—eye strain, chronic auto-intoxication, chronic infections, etc., that you had better see your physician to determine the cause of yours. Perhaps after you gain you will be better.

Mrs. Z.—Usually if the wife is in good health and not undernourished, the condition you speak of is the fault of the husband. The husband should go to his physician and have this explained.

'Great Divide' to Remain in Nevada

RENO, Nevada.—Now that official returns have definitely decided the failure of Bishop George C. Huntington's initiative measure to extend the time necessary for a Reno "liberty bond," members of the local divorce colony are busily engaged in writing letters broadcast to the four corners of the earth telling the joyous news.

They are not depending upon the regular news channels to carry the glad tidings, and many stamps have been licked and telegrams sent to carry the word that Nevada is still the "game preserve" of those who seek refuge from the slings and arrows of "outrageous" matrimony.

Local business men, who formed an association which vigorously opposed any change in the existing divorce law, report a revival of interest in their offerings from dainty boots to Paris hats and from diamond solitaires to jeweled vanity cases.

One of the developments immediately expected as a result of the defeat of the measure which would have sounded the death-knell of "quick divorce" in this State is the rebuilding of the famous Riverside Hotel, former headquarters for divorce "residents," which burned down eight months ago.

The News ads produce results.

Bull Demonstrates China-Shop Proverb

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va.—The old saying about the bull in the china shop has just had a demonstration here. The bull, a huge one, became frightened in the streets and plunged into Rupert Kayser's restaurant through the front plate glass window. The animal then smashed its way among tables, chairs and dishes into the kitchen, going thence into the alley to the rear. Nobody was hurt, but there was a lot of broken china, glass and furniture in the place after the bull left.

Telegraph Line Is Tied Up by Mudhen

SAN FRANCISCO.—Wire trouble was reported recently on one of the main railroad telegraph lines between San Francisco and the North and East. A "trouble shooter" was dispatched to locate the trouble. On arriving at Coyuna, a station just east of Port Costa, Cal., the lineman discovered that a mudhen had become entangled in the lines and in its attempts to free itself had crossed the wires, thus tying up the service. The mudhen, released, flew away.

SLIGHT DECREASE IN TAX RECEIPTS

Income Returns in L. A. Zone
For December Shrink
Eleven Per Cent

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—In come tax receipts from the De- cember drive for the payment of the fourth and final installment will amount to $6,428,261.81. Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell announced today. Income tax collections for the country as a whole have shown a decrease of thirty per cent while the Los Angeles district's shrink- age in December receipts was only 11 per cent, which is less than the reductions in tax pro- vided for by the new revenue act. This again puts Los Angeles at the head of the sixty-four inter- nal revenue districts.

For the calendar year ending December 31 income tax receipts will reach $32,717,826.11, as compared with $35,821,215 re- ported for the last fiscal year. This indicates a Los Angeles de- crease of but 5.8 per cent as against 30 per cent for the coun- try as a whole.

Collector Goodcell pointed out that 47,926 more income tax re- turns were filed in 1922 than in 1921. This would indicate an increase in population in south- ern California of 380,000 as one out of every eight persons filed a return in 1921.

Announcement was made by Collector Goodcell that receipts for federal taxes on capital stock in corporations in southern Cali- fornia for the first five months of the current fiscal year, June 30 to December 1, were $1,081, 329.73 as compared with collec- tions for the entire fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, of $1,106, 000. The receipts for the five months' period represent federal tax paid on capital stock of south- ern California corporations of an actual value of $1,211,545,000.

Collector Goodcell returned

LONDON.—Milk cows and camels transported American food to 350,000 starving children and adults in the Aktubinsk section of northern Russia due to the ab- sence of other transportation fa- cilities last Winter, J. B. Fitzger- ald, of Rome, New York, stated here recently in forecasting simi- lar grave conditions in that sec- tion again this winter. Fitzger- ald was the American Relief Ad- ministration representative at Aktubinsk for nearly a year.

Greek Minister Is Assassin's Target

ATHENS, Dec. 22.—An at- tempt has been made to assassi- nate the Greek minister for for- eign affairs, newspapers revealed yesterday. The newspaper Eleuterovima in commenting on the clash be- tween Eleutherios Venizelos, head of the Greek delegation in the Nar East peace conference, and Riza Nur Bey, of the Turkish de- legation, said: "Greece would prefer re-open- ing the war against Turkey rather than see everything lost at Lau- sanne."

The newspaper urged the gov- ernment to inform the Greek de- legates that the country will again take up arms unless the oppres- sive conditions are alleviated.

The MUCKER
by Edgar Rice Burroughs
Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

"Just a name a fellow gave me once up on the Yukon," explained Bridge. "I used to use a few word he'd never heard before, so he called me 'The Unabridged,' which was too long. The fellows shortened it to 'Bridge' and it stuck. It has always stuck, and now I haven't any other. I even think of myself, now, as Bridge. Funny, ain't it?"

"Yes," agreed Billy, and that was the end of it. He never thought of asking his companion's true name, any more than Bridge would have questioned him as to his, or of his past. The ethics of the roadside fire and the empty campfire were not countenances in impertinences.

For several days the two continued their leisurely way toward Kansas City. Once they rode a few miles on a freight train, but for the most part they were content to plod joyously along the dusty highways. Billy continued to "rustle grub," while Bridge relieved the monotony by an occasional burst of poetry.

"You know so much of that stuff," said Billy as they were smoking by their camp fire one evening that I'd think you'd be able to make some up yourself."

"I've tried," admitted Bridge, "but there always seems to be something lacking in my stuff—it don't get under your belt—the divine afflatus is not there. I may start out all right, but I always end up where I didn't expect to go, and where nobody wants to be."

"Member any of it?" asked Billy.

"There was one I wrote about a lake where I camped once," said Bridge, reminiscingly, "but I can only recall one stanza."

"Let's have it," urged Billy. "I bet it has Knibbs hangin' to the ropes."

Bridge cleared his throat, and recited:

Silver are the ripples,
Solemn are the dunes,

Happy are the fishes,
For they are full of prunes.

He looked up at Billy, a smile twitching at the corners of his mouth. "How's that?" he asked. Billy scratched his head.

"It's all right but the last line," said Billy, candidly. "There is something wrong with that last line."

"Yes, agreed Bridge, "there is." "I guess Knibbs is safe for another round at least," said Billy. Bridge was eyeing his companion, noting the broad shoulders, the deep chest, the mighty forearm and biceps which the other's light cotton shirt could not conceal.

"It is none of my business," he said presently, "but from your general appearance, from bits of idiom you occasionally drop, and from the way you handled those two boes the night we met I should rather surmise that at some time other you had been less than a thousand miles from the w. k. roped arena."

"I seen a prize fight once," admitted Billy.

It was the day before they were due to arrive in Kansas City that Billy earned a hand-out from a restaurant keeper in a small town by doing some odd jobs for the man. The food he gave to Billy was wrapped in an old copy of the Kansas City Star. When Billy reached camp he tossed the package to Bridge, who, in addition to his honorable post as poet laureate, was also cook. Then Billy walked down to the stream, near-by, that he might wash away the grime and sweat of honest toil from his hands and face.

Daily News Letter
General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Roland Krebs, New York correspondent, writes of the camouflage practiced on glibly visitors to the metropolis by "near actors" and "never-will-be" actors, who feed their personal vanity on the open-mouthed admiration of untutored aspirants to histrionic attainment.

TUESDAY—David M. Church, London correspondent, writes that women are failures in business in the English metropolis, according to statistics. The ladies are declared to be more interested in getting married, usually, than they are in diligently pursuing their vocations.

For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—A steady source of wonder and interest to the visitor from outside of New York is the theatrical district and its dwellers during off-stage hours. Youthful devotees of the drama, who didn't really want to go into the movies anyway, reverently pass the Friar's club, in 48th street, or the Lamb's manger, in 44th street. With eager ears they listen to the conversations of the sidewalk idlers in 47th street and in the area-way behind the Hotel Astor.

The amusing part of it all is that these credulous visitors are the victims of near actors, who delight in seeing people gaze. The really good artists are too busy to be loitering around in 47th street.

To these one-half of one percent actors George White, of "Scandals" repute, and George M. Cohan are always "George White" and "George Cohan." Lots of democracy in the profession, you know.

Two down-and-outers—women—but a successful actress on the skilful good and proper when they saw her leave the stage door of a 47th street variety theatre. It was as "I knew her when—" conversation from start to finish. "Why, dearie," said the one, emphasizing her remarks with little pokes of a bent wrist, "she ain't got no reason at all to give me the ritz. Two years ago in Toledo she had a opener. Where was I? In the gravel spot, m'dear. I done my stuff from beginning to end in pantomime, and, my dear, it was a Class A knockout. And now she three-sheets herself when she gives me the go by. Imagine."

Just what per cent of the attendance of the annual ball of the Actors' Equity Association is made up of the profession would be interesting to know. At the recent 1922 ball the Hotel Astor was jammed. Planks were flung back and forth and the amusement got a bit ribald in spots.

But the actors themselves—Ethel Barrymore, Carl Randall, Cecil Sorel, the Valentinos, Francis Byrne and Buster Keaton—were the ladies and gentlemen one expects to find at a ball. They try to keep out the riff-raff—tickets are $11 each—but it appears that nearly everyone has $11 these days.

The ball is the biggest event of the year to the profession. It got under way at midnight and at dawn was foxtrotting along merrily. Every minute contains its individual novelty. The ball is perhaps the most sparkling New York knows.

EXPLANATION OF RADIO
We now come to what is known as "wave length," or in other words, the distance from the peak of one wave to the peak of the succeeding wave. As an analogy we can picture the distance from the top or peak of the succeeding wave of the ocean, although other waves may be of different form to water waves.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS

"Twas two days before Christmas, and all through the wood, the animal children had been pretty good. Some stockings had been hung on the chimney with care, and others were draped over the back of a chair.

And when this had been done Uncle Wiggily called to Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy and asked: "Is there anything more to do before Santa Claus comes?"

"I think not," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "You have brought in everything—the tree, the stockings, the holly, the candy and the nuts. As for the chimney, that is always on the roof, and as for presents—"

"We must wait until Christmas morning for them," said Uncle Wiggily, with a twinkle of his pink nose.

And at last Christmas came. The long night passed finally, and then the sun rose bright and glorious over the snowy trees.

"Merry Christmas, Uncle Wiggily!" Merry Christmas called Nurse Jane, for she was up before the bunny rabbit that Christmas morning.

"The same to you! Merry Christmas!" greeted Uncle Wiggily. Then he looked at the Christmas tree, and found, among other things, a bright red, white and blue rheumatism crutch, striped like a barber pole.

"That's from me!" said Nurse Jane.

"And this is from me," said Uncle Wiggily to Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, giving her first a kiss and then handing her one of the stockings of Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman. The stocking was filled to the top with diamond earrings, a gold breastpin and many other fine gifts. But, best of all, was a new calico apron.

"Just what I wanted to wear when I cook the Christmas dinner!" laughed Nurse Jane, and she tied the apron strings around her waist and began to get breakfast.

After breakfast many of the animal boys and girls came to the hollow stump bungalow to show their presents to Uncle Wiggily. Sammie Littlebell had skates; Susie, his sister, a rubber doll that squealed when you punched her gently in the back. Curly Twistytail, the piggy boy, had a horn to blow, and Woodie Chuck, the groundhog boy, had a sled with a red picture on it.

Oh, there were so many presents that I couldn't begin to tell you all about them. And while the animal boys and girls were chatting with Uncle Wiggily, out in the kitchen there were the most wonderful perfumes and odors that you can imagine—roast turkey, cranberry sauce, celery, jam, jelly, broiled oysters, sizzling bacon—Oh, it just makes me hungry to even write about it.

"Let's have fun and play games!" cried Jennie Chipmunk. "Oh, yes!" shouted the others, and soon they were playing games in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow.

When the fun was at its best, and Uncle Wiggily was laughing so much that he nearly dropped the pink twinkle off the end of his nose, all of a sudden the Bob Cat began sneaking around the hollow stump bungalow looking for ears to nibble.

The Bob Cat heard the merry shouts and laughter in Uncle Wiggily's house, but this joy only made the bad chap the more glum and gloomy, like Gabriel Grubb or Old Scrouge.

Striking Miners Go on Hunting Trips

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Resident and non-resident hunters paid into the treasury of West Virginia $69,548 between January 1 and October 1 of the present year in fees for hunters' licenses, reports of county clerks for the nine months show. A total of 64,938 residents and 308 non-resident licenses were issued.

During the same period a total of 239 persons were arrested on charges of violating the fish and game laws. Convictions numbered 218. The majority of the alleged violations had to do with the dynamiting of fish. With sixty-two persons arrested and fifty-six convicted, Kanawha county led all other counties in arrests and convictions. The total of fines collected for violations of the game and fish laws was $3595.

According to officials of the fish and game commission, the large increase in the number of licenses issued was due to the coal strike. During their period of idleness many of the miners sought relaxation in hunting.

is only by means of variations of wave lengths that it is possible to operate a number of radio stations within the same area or region. Any desired wave length can be obtained by varying the circuit which determines wave frequency.

Wave lengths used in commercial practice vary from a few meters to thousands of meters. Wave lengths play such an important part in radio that a perfect understanding of the subject is essential. For illustrative purposes, we may compare several radio stations working in the same locality, on similar wave lengths, to several persons speaking in the same room at the same time. A listener at a receiving station, or another person listening in the same room to the speakers, would be "jammed," or "interfered with," to use radio terms of expression.

PHILIPPINES IN HOME RULE PLAN

Collectivists Adopt Stand
Demanding Immediate Independence

By International News Service.
MANILA—The Philippine thirst for independence is not one whit satiated, nor Mr. Quezon's collectivist party daunted one iota by the apathetic reception accorded the last delegation which argued the case before the present administration at Washington with such negligible results.

The collectivists have just concluded another convention in which a platform reiterating the demand for "immediate and complete independence" of the islands was adopted, augmented by new demands for complete "Filipinization" of the government. This latter would include the offices of the governor-general, justice of the supreme court five out of nine now being Americans, and the insular auditor. At present these positions are filled by appointment by the president of the United States. The Filipinos also wish a native Filipino to hold the position of vice-governor and secretary of public instruction.

Amend Organic Law
To comply congress would have to amend the organic act, the Jones law of 1916. The collectivist party controls the senate, of which Mr. Quezon is to be president, and has thirty-nine out of a total of eighty-three seats (for elective members, seven others being appointed by the governor-general) in the lower house.

Practically speaking, it is the majority party. It makes the strongest appeal to young Filipinos. The reception and ball given after the convention resembled nothing so much as a junior prom or sorority dance. It favors reducing the voting age to 18 years.

The collectivist party favors continuing efforts toward independence and at the same time advocates "complete trade reciprocity between the Philippines and the United States before and after independence is granted."

Favor Home Rule
Americans in Manila are inclined to believe that complete local autonomy, or home rule, under the American flag would be accepted as the best solution of the problem of the status of the Philippines.

C. H. Huston, assistant secretary of commerce, was told at the American Chamber of Commerce that a permanent status for the Philippines was necessary before business could expand and investments of capital develop resources.

The temporary character of the present government pleases neither Americans nor Filipinos.

The collectivists propose to call a constitutional convention to draft a constitution for the Philippines. On this point, which shows how opinion is amalgamating, the Manila Daily Bulletin, a consistent advocate of American opinion, says editorially:

"Assuming, and it is the only assumption that can be made, that the status provided for by such a constitution will not obtain unless it is satisfactory from the point of view of the United States, why not let us have just such a convention? It is quite possible that modifications in the document evolved would have to be made before divergent views of Manila and Washington statesmen could be harmonized, but at least it would provide something tangible upon which to work."

VETERANS' BOARD TO REFUND STATE

Treasury Department to Get
Huge Sum Through
Bond Issue

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—Upon the sale of $10,000,000 worth of bonds authorized at the November election, the California Veterans' Welfare board will return to the state treasury $2,900,000 out of the $3,000,000 appropriated by the last legislature for the operation of the veterans' rehabilitation program in this state, according to announcement today.

The legislature appropriated $3,000,000 for the initiation of the veterans' farm and home purchase act and the veterans' land settlement act when other funds were made available through authorization of the bond issue. The allotment included $100,000 for administration purposes and this is not returnable.

Preacher Shows Up Phony Spiritualist

MARION, Ind.—A flashlight in the hands of Rev. D. L. Woodward, pastor of the First Baptist church, disillusioned thirty citizens who were listening to the conversation of alleged "spirits" in a North Marion home recently. The audience was cautioned at the beginning of the seance not to produce a light of any kind, because it would disturb the spirits. After the "spirits" had talked for some time the Rev. Mr. Woodward, who was somewhat skeptical, took a flashlight from his pocket, flooded the room with light and proved to the audience assembled that the "spirit" was the medium herself, talking through the trumpet. The disappointed audience then departed and the medium feigned a swoon which was soon dispelled.

LOCAL MAN HEADS 'WETS' TO START SCHOOL SOCIETY WRIGHT ACT TEST

Educators' Association
In L. A. County

The honor of being elected president of the School Business Managers Association of Los Angeles county was given yesterday noon at the City Club in Los Angeles, to David Black of 1450 Fenneth Road, business agent for the local grammar school system.

E. E. Harwood of 298 East Cypress street, superintendent of schools in Eagle Rock, was re-elected secretary.

"This is a permanent organization," asserted Mr. Black yesterday upon his return to Glendale. "Its object is the promotion of efficiency in the business and purchasing end of school affairs. Twenty-five school districts are represented."

The idea of forming an association of this type originated last fall when the price of desks was considered excessive and it was felt that they might be bought jointly at quantity prices and then distributed to the separate school districts.

HARDING PARDONS THREE ON XMAS

President Makes No Provision for Release of War
Time Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—President Harding's Christmas pardon list, made public by the department of justice, provided no executive clemency for any of the sixty-two political prisoners still remaining in federal penitentiaries for war time offenses.

Pardons were issued to only three men, all of whom are now serving sentences in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

They are Thomas Parker, Texas, who has served a five-year sentence for manslaughter.

John W. Delaney of California, who was convicted in April, 1922, of conspiracy to forge.

John Carl of Canada, who has served ten years for second degree murder.

Revolutionist Urges Church Whistling

BELFAST—Whistling in church instead of singing, and whistling competitions between different religious sections are the means which the Rev. W. Nicholson employs to attract crowds to his revivalist meetings. He insists on the men in his congregations whistling the well-known hymn tunes, and leads them through them again and again until he is satisfied they are putting their heart into it. The result of several hundred men whistling at once is ear piercing, but the Rev. Nicholson claims that he can number his converts by thousands.

PREDICTS OIL SHORTAGE
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 23.—The United States will be forced to import 50 per cent of its crude oil supply within ten years, J. B. O'Neill, president of the Prairie Oil and Gas company, told the senate manufacturers committee at the La Follette oil investigation. O'Neill declared this situation would be caused by a decrease in the American production and an increase in consumption.

GIFTS ARE SENT TO EX-SOLDIERS

Glendale Chapter of Red Cross Gives Clothing to War Veterans

In the busy rush of Christmas time the ex-soldiers at the Sawtelle home were not forgotten by the local Red Cross chapter. A large consignment of clothing was sent to the home this last week and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale Red Cross has received a letter of appreciation from the Red Cross representative at the home.

The consignment included five good suits of clothing, separate garments, overcoats, sweaters and shirts and other things amounting to $40. According to the Red Cross representative at Sawtelle such gifts are very acceptable and useful.

Old Irish Mansions Used As Tenements

DUBLIN—Dublin has the reputation—and without doubt well earns it—of being the worst slum city in western Europe. More than a quarter of its population lives in tenements which were formerly town houses of the aristocrats and gentry. Magnificent in construction, with beautiful balustrades and wood carving upon the paneled doors, these houses accommodate nowadays as many as from ten to fifteen families.

The chimneypiece and ceiling work are not the least beautiful decorations of these old mansions. Italians were brought to Ireland to carry out the special work.

U. S. Reports Don't Worry British Press

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Leading British newspapers today warned the people to put little credence in the report that an American commission will attempt to mediate the reparations crisis.

A news agency regarded as semi-official, circulated a British denial while most of the newspapers ridiculed it in editorial columns.

The British public was warned by the Chronicle "to remain incredulous." It added: "This same story has appeared before with the name of Herbert Hoover written upon it."

THIS is the season when friendships are renewed, acknowledgements are made, pledges and resolutions are formed and good will is freely dispensed. I take a pleasure in looking back over the past year and reviewing my relations with you—Glendale citizens who have been active in her interests. Our work together was a pleasure to me and I am gratified to feel that we accomplished some worth-while things for the city in which we are all interested, and I take pride in the thought that greater things are to be accomplished the coming year. I thank you who worked with me for the friendly co-operation accorded me. I pledge my support to all forward-looking movements in the coming year and I wish one and all

SONG OF THE SLEIGH BELLS

JING a jing, a jing, jing
Jing, jing, jing;
How clear the sleigh bells ring!
Sweetly through the air
Their voices fair
Sing, ting a ling, a jing, ping, jing!

You said he'd be here by half past ten,
There's still a minute to go,
But, mother dear, think; it's Christmas Day
I wonder what makes him so slow!

I've flown to the window fourteen times
When I've heard the sleigh bells ring,
Cutters fly past us and do not stop
They fool me like everything!

Oh, there he is now! Oh, where's my tam,
I had it on long ago,
Oh goody, we'll start for grandma's house
A nice long drive in the snow.

Oh, mother, look, how she shakes her bells,
A musical sound they bring,
And all the way out to grandma's house
We'll hear them ring and ring!

Hello, Uncle Ned! Will you let me drive,
You say that she's so hard to hold,
Even I can see that and her wicked glance!
We'd all be flung out in the cold.

Oh yes, I am comfy and ever so warm;
I even feel sleepy, too,
So, mother dear, wake me when we come in sight
Of grandmother's house, please do!

You say we're most there and I'd better awake!
Why, I've hardly closed an eye,
With sleigh bells alive in cold clean cut air
How long I have slept, oh my!

There's grandma, the dear, she has seen us from far
With a ting a ling o'er the snow,
And grandpapa, too, and our Uncle Bob
Their faces so sweet I know.

To celebrate Christmas is ever so fine
And best of it all to me
I think I like most that snowy drive
On our way to our Christmas tree.

Jing a jing, a jing, jing,
Jing, jing, jing;
How clear the sleigh bells ring!
Sweetly through the air
Their voices fair
Sing, ting a ling, a jing, ping, jing!

PACKAGES FOR CHRISTMAS MAY BE MADE UNUSUALLY PLEASING

There Are Number of Ways In Which Gifts
May Be Offered to Prove Attractive

Thank goodness we are now using a little imagination in tying up our Christmas packages, and are no longer bound by the hackneyed white tissue paper and red ribbon with lonely greeting card beneath the bow-knot. Although it is certainly true that white tissue paper has a lovely crisp fresh look and makes a pleasant background for colored ribbons or strings.

Do let us get away from what an art teacher used to call "Merry Christmas colors," the everlasting red and green. There are many fancy papers on the market now-a-days with holly sprigs and Christmas designs of various sorts. Then there are the interesting wood fiber effects in the Japanese papers. It would seem a good idea to tie up these patterned papers with plain string or ribbon, and use seals sparingly. Christmas seals are very attractive now-a-days and are made in all sorts of odd sizes, some of gold embossed like metal, and some of white with silhouettes in black, as well as many others in colors.

Making Attractive Packages
For the dainty gifts to a woman friend what could be prettier than a white tissue paper package tied in pale blue ribbon, with a cluster of organdie flowers in a pastel tint for a decoration? The flowers would make a lively little additional gift really, for she could use this tiny bouquet later. Gold cord makes a very distinguished looking appearance on a white package and its regal note could be further emphasized by seals of black or of black sealing wax.

That brings us to sealing wax. My, what fun the children can have with a box of vari-colored sticks! One can well imagine a grown-up too, might enjoy the fascinating occupation of dropping sealing wax on a package all neatly tied and ready to send.

Let us suppose a box is wrapped in a plain color, say bright blue, and tied with a blue string. Why not drop the sealing wax daubs in groups of three? Try three at each end and three on the top, each group of three different colors—a good selection being lavender, apple green and pink.

My, my, one would just hate to open such an attractive package and break the pretty seals!

Then there are tassels. A perfectly joyous group of tassels are easily made for the ends of the Christmas cord. Use colored twine, or colored heavy crochet cotton or better still, bright yarns. Make flat seals of the wax and while hot drop the end of the yarn into the wax, adding another daub of hot wax on top.

Besides these wax seals, wax beads can be made, inserting the string while the beads are being formed or stringing them later, after they are cold.

And as for beads, a string of large kindergarten beads of glass, or the square, round and cylindrical wooden ones will give you material for many tassels at the ends of your yarn or cord.

Here again an entirely different material is being used to delight the eye and afford amusing opportunity for the imaginative one to use his skill. Let me prophesy that the person receiving this package will—well he ought to laugh aloud when he sees it. If very sober he will smile at least. How can he help smiling when there on top sits a weird animal composed of gumdrops? Long thin gumdrops on toothpicks make legs, fat round ones make bodies and his head and ears of the tiny ones. Eyes are made of cloves. And when you remember that one leg is pink and another yellow and so on, well, you see he's a very delectable sort of a creature.

Animal and Manikin Novelties.
The number of variations that may be made of these gumdrop animals is one of the attractive features of this idea, the more weird, and unnatural they are, the more amusing.

Then there are manikins to be made of the same material. These can be constructed with toothpicks or string on colored cord. Tassels of these little gumdrop men will finish a Christmas package well, at least a bit unusual. They ought to be highly acceptable especially to children. As to whether gumdrops will travel well in the mails, that I cannot say. It would have to be a matter of experiment.

At any rate there are many packages that are delivered personally at Christmas time and on these the gumdrop people, and the gumdrop animals can carry a light-hearted Christmas message.

HANDWORK GOOD CHRISTMAS GIFT

Writer Says Embroidery on Linen Makes Present
Always Appreciated

By MARJORIE HOWE DIXON
If you are so fortunate as to be able to do the beautiful Italian cut work, your Christmas gifts of that embroidery on linen are going to be very much appreciated. That is a safe prophecy. The severity of the design and its richness have made this work exceedingly popular.

There are many good designs to be found. One set has a square centerpiece with its stiff design covering all of it and matching dollies (squares) carry a smaller version of the chief motif in one corner. There are two sizes of the smaller pieces, one set ten inches across and the other six inches.

For the refectory table comes an oblong runner with an exceedingly handsome design at each corner and again in the center of either border. Twelve mats accompany this set, each embroidered to match the runner at every corner.

Hand Hemstitching Popular
Hand hemstitching will always be popular in linens. One never grows tired of it. A tea cloth may be oblong or square, and be patterned with a plain checker-board of this type of handwork. The hems of the napkins as well as the center of the tea cloth are worked in the same way.

Scotch linen crash makes a more informal set for the table with its colored embroidery. The color is introduced by pulling threads of the linen and running a colored thread in the place thereof. With mats and napkins in a simple square pattern this set is unusually attractive. Even if one were possessed of only a moderate amount of skill, one could attempt this work and make, successfully, a good luncheon set.

Besides linens, for the table service, both muslins and chambrays are used, and gingham comes in daintily used for trimming.

What could be more attractive than an unbleached muslin breakfast set with a fat coffee pot of gingham adorning the square centerpiece? All the steaming cups (of the same material) appear on the napkins.

Varied Table Pieces Acceptable
Another set that would appeal to any one's sense of color has a flower basket of black cross-stitch, out of which tumble flowers plucked from a bit of chintz. Still another set has an octagonal appearance for the corners are neatly clipped and the hems are all button-holed with blue. A blue squat teapot in cross-stitch flanked either side by a cup and saucer, makes an appropriate design for the runner. Each napkin rejoices in clipped corners with a tiny flower in its buttonhole. If a napkin may be said to have one.

Besides breakfast sets, and luncheon sets, one may make very acceptable gifts of towels. There are large ones and small ones, guest towels and bath towels, with face cloths to match.

Monograms Add to Towels
Colored bath towels are offered in a perfectly bewildering assortment, and often with an accompanying face cloth. The needlewoman adds to the towel a large handsome monogram in black or in a matching color, and then how pleased is the recipient! Well, if she isn't, she ought to be, and purple makes a pleasant contrast with blue, if that's the color her bathroom wears for decoration. Guest towels as a gift are as well come as handkerchiefs, for one can never have too many. A monogram is ever the most popular decoration. Of plain linen of exquisite quality comes a large towel with a square monogram hemstitched to match the hemstitched hem.

Then color will not be denied these days even in the linen towels, and interesting among them are the new linen crash towels with wide hems of colored linen, hemstitched on. Here again is an attractive gift easily made. Plain linen is also interesting combined with narrow fllet lace at the hem, and then, not to be content with that decoration, it further adds a deep twisted fringe of linen threads. Both the colored hem towels and the fringed ones come in the natural linen color.

Linen for Every Service
Card table sets make appropriate gifts to one's friends who enjoy bridge. Mosaic embroidery has been effectively applied. And speaking of mosaic work, there are the most fascinating ovals in this style of embroidery, the funny stiff designs sometimes composed of figures and then again of butterflies and flowers.

Perhaps there is nothing more enjoyable to the natural feminine heart than a chest of beautiful linens, linens appropriate for ordinary service, for special occasion, for a card party or a dainty tea. Since the days when a wee girl started her chest for her wedding, women have always enjoyed the possession of fine linen. So be sure your gift of that sort will be appreciated.

Water Shortage In Dry Town of U. S.

STURBRIDGE—The town of Sturbridge claims to be the driest town in the United States. In addition to enforcement of the Volstead act, many of the wells in town are drying up and the people have to seek water from their neighbors. Even fire protection has been reduced to a few one-gallon fire extinguishers.

SHE'S 'LOVELIEST' STOWAWAY

We've had the youngest, the oldest, the bravest, the homeliest and the rest—but for the first time have we come across the loveliest of stowaways. She is Mlle. Jeanne Bonar, at the left, a Russian by birth, whose guardian angel is Mrs. Rose Knutsen of Tarrytown, N. Y., right. Mrs. Knutsen is trying to arrange with the authorities at Ellis Island for the release of the beautiful young Russian girl who stowed away on a ship and was held at Ellis Island for deportation.

Fire Levelled City Has But One Nook From Whence
Cheer Radiates

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 23.—"Queer are the exigencies of fate. Ages ago the Saviour was born in an humble manger because there was no room in the inn."

Now fate has left Astoria in ruins—levelled by fire. Christmas is nigh and there is no place from whence cheer can be radiated to the homeless and destitute.

Only Astor street—"Lane of Iniquity"—in the devastated business area. And from the Louvre—the accursed Louvre of bygone days—on Astor street, the spirit of Christmas will reign. Where haughty courtesan once rolled her eyes; where men in gaming won and lost, sacrificed honor, sometimes life. A dive—a hell hole—spared by fire as were all the dens of iniquity.

Elks Play Santa
Here brother Elks from Portland will play Santa Claus to hundreds whose homes are temporary sheds and shelters.

Tons of goodies, oodles of toys and pretty things will cheer little and grown-up Astorians. Three great trees, brilliant with lights, will shed kindly glow along Astor street. Chimneys fell with business houses and homes and perchance little children, told of Santa's way of coming, will wonder how the old gentleman will reach their makeshift shelters. But mothers have reassured them—the dear little dimpled darlings are awaiting St. Nick in all his glory.

Did Closed Cars Cost too Much?

Thousands thought so. And prior to the Coach, they stuck to open cars.

That simply meant they wanted to put their investment in chassis quality and dependability, rather than accept lesser mechanical value in a closed car. Yet everyone wants closed car advantages provided they do not sacrifice chassis value.

So a Great Welcome Awaited the Coach

Essex invented the Coach to meet this plain demand of thousands. It gives every essential comfort of the costliest closed cars. It is solid, quiet, durable and attractive in looks. Yet of course its greatest value is in the famous Essex chassis which world experts have called the finest of its size built. It fully has confirmed that verdict by official proof.

In no car can you get more than you pay for. It is for you to decide whether your money shall go for a costly body or for real automobile performance and lasting quality.

THE LEGEND OF CHRISTMAS

THEY say that on that first, strange Christmas Night,
So dazzling was the radiance of the Light,
That sun and moon and stars leaped in the sky,
And danced in ecstasy.
The silly sheep fled, scampering in dismay,
Yet stayed their foolish fleeing, so they say,
To kneel in adoration and in prayer.
And peace was everywhere.

The crooked stump stood straight the legend tells
And held forth leafy arms; and tiny bells,
Wee, starry blossoms, gemmed the living green.
No withered thing was seen.
The lion and the lamb watched side by side,
Sharing the wonders of that Christmastide,
The air was rich with perfume, sweet with song.
The cock crowed all night long.

And every Christmas Eve, so runs the tale,
In field and forest, mountain-top and vale,
The blessed fairies guard, that over all
No evil may befall.
They say that angels hover all the night,
Close to the listening earth; and when the light
Of Christmas morning heralds the glad day,
They fold their wings and pray.

You never saw these wonders? No, nor I!
Only the pure and childlike may descry
The tiny fairies flitting in the grass,
And speak them as they pass.
Guiltless of guile, from greed and envy free—
Oh! very like the Christ-Child must you be,
To hear a blessed angel when he sings,
Or feel the brush of wings.

SOMETHING FOR GARDEN WILL PROVE ACCEPTABLE AS GIFT

Pleasant Way to Announce Present Is to Send
Note on Christmas Morning

Gifts that recall the joy and glory of summer in the garden will be greatly enjoyed by the garden lovers. Plants, seeds, bulbs, small and unusual tools, even this short list presents fascinating possibilities to the person who delights in the appropriate in giving. One of the chief things to be considered, perhaps, is whether the friend's garden is an old one or whether it is in its infancy. Of one thing, one may always rest assured, no garden is ever complete, no gardener is ever satisfied; always there is a tree, a shrub, a flower needed to complete the collection; always there is a new or novel tool desired to make gardening a greater delight. The friend who supplies the smallest of these needs is sure of a harvest of gratitude.

A pleasant way to announce the future arrival of something for the garden is to send a small fore-runner on Christmas morning. If you wish to tell your friend that you have paid for a rare evergreen that the nurseryman will send at the right time, send a note to that effect with a box of tiny Christmas trees and bright berries with which to fill the window box.

Such a box will be both a present joy and a promise of a permanent joy to come. If instead of an evergreen a collection of rose-bushes has been ordered, a single rose may be sent with the note of greeting that announces the fact.

Perhaps the recipient of the Christmas gift only rents her house, yet finds the garden necessary to her happiness. To such a one send a collection of the seeds of the less commonly used annuals. Grandmother's garden knew some of these as Painted Tongue, Mourning Bride, Butterfly Flower. Seedsmen sell them as Salpiglossis, Schizanthus, Scabiosa. To these add single annual chrysanthemums, sweet sultan, bush morning glories, varieties of the glorified Phlox Drummondii and the splendid improved petunias. Even if these are not entirely new to her, the garden lady will be pleased.

Perhaps the garden which is to have a Christmas present needs some climbers. A pleasant gift would be a collection of seeds of annual vines, such as the balloon vine, the cypresses, including the new cardinal climber, the Brazilian morning glory, and the graceful Murandia vine in its many colors.

A garden new or old needs a collection of such summer bulbs as the Zephyr lilies and Hyacinthus candicans, and always there is room for such old time sweet smelling things as lavender, bergamot and the "musk" of our grandmothers, which the growers call mimulus moschatus.

Do you prefer to send something besides seeds or plants? Then why not a collection of clear, slender glass vases of different heights? Or one or two of the books on amateur gardening that are both practical and pleasing? Or if your gardener friend is an expert, why not a specially bound copy of Bacon's Essay on Gardens which has charmed the heart of every gardener since the time of the great Elizabeth?

If the intense personal touch is desired, home designed gifts may be made. A wide flat basket, painted or dyed at home, together with a stout pair of gardener's shears, and a pair of garden gloves will be appropriate. There are no handier small tools for the garden than a steel-tined kitchen fork, and long tin spoon. Two such forks, one spoon, and a small watering pot, the sprinkler and the spoon handles to be painted a gay favorite color, would make a set both useful and acceptable.

Another home made gift might be a dozen round stakes a foot long, and a dozen flat ones, four inches long, all painted a pleasant gay green. The first would be used to tie up budding plants, while the others could have pasted on them, the names of seeds sown and would be used as markers.

A still different type of gift might consist of colored prints of old gardens designed for framing, or, what would also please a zealous gardener a scrap-book for garden snap shots and treasured newspaper clippings on such gardening information as most appeals to the recipient's heart.

Santa Claus is to be present and a big tree is to be loaded with everything to delight the children's hearts.

In addition to the celebration in Glendale the chapter is sponsoring celebrations in Eagle Rock, Burbank, San Fernando and at Mother Cabrino's Preventorium at Burbank. At each of these places there will be trees and Santa Claus is to pay each a visit.

Research Hospital
Staff Gives a Party

"Come and trip it as ye go, on the light fantastic toe," was the keynote of the dancing party given at 412 Piedmont Park last night by the staff of the Glendale Research hospital.

A feature of the evening was the failure of Mrs. Amy Goddard, chief surgical nurse, to teach those present a new game entitled "A Chinese Prayer."

Dr. Philip Hoeffer of Los Angeles spent a large part of the evening in decorating the house with wicker yarn. This harmonized very well with the pepper bough greenery and the Christmas tree.

Rhythm was furnished by Miss Marion Jones of 376 Lexington drive at the piano; Eddiet Moniot of 327 El Bonito street, with his banjo, and Wilbur Funk of 111 East Harvard street with his saxophone.

Grape juice was served as punch while refreshments of ice cream and cake were served about midnight, long before anybody was thinking of going home.

Others present at the affair were Mrs. Maude Pope, Mrs. Elizabeth Pope, Miss "Betty" Mock, Miss Ethel Giles, Miss Anna Sather, Miss Alice Sellon, Miss Catherine O'Donnell, Miss Agnes McKinnon, Miss Anna Rentz, Miss Edna Houston, Miss Pearl Johnson, Dr. Waldo Richardson, Attorney Eugene E. Wix, H. W. Macklin, E. D. Simpson, W. D. Turner, Shirley Kincaid, Ernest Bohme, Robert Gibson, Kramer Peterson, Richard Harris, High Nesbit and Earl Livermore.

Local Women to Attend Ceremonies
The cornerstone for the new community center at Sparr Heights will be laid tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock following "neighborly" ceremonies.

Glendale organizations and community interests will be represented by the following hostesses for the occasion:

Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. Stephen Huntington, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. L. Hurston, Mrs. Don Orput, Mrs. Nanno Woods, Mrs. L. T. Rowley, Miss Eva Daniels, Miss Kathleen Woods, Mrs. W. H. HARVEY IS BOUND FOR U. S. TODAY

American Ambassador Has Left Post in England for Washington Confab

LONDON, Dec. 23.—George Harvey, American ambassador to England, who sailed for New York, will bring back to Europe with him conditions on which the United States is willing to participate in a reparations settlement. These conditions, it was learned in authoritative quarters, will reveal the extent to which the United States may be willing to intervene.

Ambassador Harvey immediately upon his arrival in Washington will make a full report to Secretary of State Hughes and President Harding upon European conditions.

It was learned from sources close to the United States embassy that Mr. Harvey is himself in the dark as to the plans of the Harding administration, if there are any definite plans. It is assumed here that there will be no definite proposals until after the ambassador has had a chance to enlighten President Harding and Secretary Hughes upon the chief needs of Europe. The next move is then up to President Harding and his cabinet.

British Have Hopes
While it is hoped by British officials that the United States will enter the allied reparations parley next month, it is feared the war debt angle of the problem will prevent this.

Ambassador Harvey will reach Washington upon the eve of the allied premiers' conference in Paris. If there are any definite representations by Washington, indicating that the United States will propose a settlement plan, the Paris meeting may be postponed until it is seen what the United States has to offer.

Four Jail Breakers Nabbed by Sheriff

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—Investigation was under today of an attempted jail break which was frustrated when Deputy Sheriff Charles Ogle apprehended four prisoners at the point of a revolver as they were making their getaway late last night through a window of the county jail after having sawed their way through five heavy bars.

T. D. & L. THEATRE
Paramount has been particularly generous in the cast of "The Young Rajah," now showing at the T. D. & L. theatre. The stellar role is assumed by dark, handsome Rodolph Valentino. The girl he loves is interpreted by piquant blonde, Wanda Hawley. Charles Ogle has a big part as the kindly old New Englander.

Sunday, one day only, the T. D. & L. theatre will present Katherine MacDonald in her latest photodrama, "White Shoulders." Christmas day, the attraction at this playhouse will be John M. Stahl's sensational film, "The Dangerous Age," one of the greatest pictures produced this year. The cast includes Edith Roberts, Lewis Stone, Cleo Madison and Ruth Clifford. Every woman should see this picture, with her husband—and talk about it later. It is that kind of a picture.

PENDROY'S BEAN CONTEST DECIDED

Irene Clouse Wins Prize With Guess of 6445; Count Exciting

Pendroy's "bean jar" guessing contest, which has excited the imagination of Glendale kiddies for some time, was decided this morning at 11 o'clock. The counting of the beans consumed nearly an hour.

Exactly 6447 beans were found to be in the jar. Though this is far from the guesses of many, there were a number who came remarkably close, considering the large number of beans involved. Little Miss Irene Clouse, of 724 Orange Grove avenue came closest of anybody and within two beans of the actual count, her guess being 6445. This young lady wins the prize offered for the best guesser among the little girls—a very beautiful French doll with heavily lidded sleeping brown eyes, dressed in pink organdie with a hat to match, the costume trimmed in lace and with a lovely pair of heeled leather shoes.

Next Closest.
The next closest guess was 6444 by a boy, registered by closest Stephen Kranzer, of 644 North Louise street. Because he was the best guesser among the boys and came within three beans of the actual count, this young gentleman wins as a prize the fine big stuffed elephant, with a cord you can pull and make him grunt, mounted on wheels and strong enough for a little tot to ride on.

These beautiful prizes are waiting at Pendroy's department store for their young winners to come and claim them.

UNDERGOES OPERATION
A minor operation was performed upon Mrs. D. J. Malone of 403 South Pacific avenue last night at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Glendale merchants merit your patronage. Do your buying in Glendale.

BOMB THROWING ALARMS IRELAND

Holiday Season Ushers in Big Wave of Violence; Dublin in Panic

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—The holiday season in Ireland was ushered in today with a terrific wave of violence. The city has been in panic for nearly twenty-four hours with bomb throwing and revolver fusillades.

Free State government offices and outposts were attacked at different times throughout the night. The attacking republican irregulars adopted the tactics of North American Indian fighters, firing from cover and then taking flight.

Large forces of Free State troops were on patrol duty, but the attacks were so scattered that the Free Staters had difficulty in coping with the irregulars. The civilian population was thrown into terror.

The violence extended from Dublin to Cork. Eight civilians in Cork were wounded when a bomb was thrown at a military lorry.

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. ISABEL WILKINSON
Mrs. Isabel Wilkinson of Long Beach died at 3:30 this morning, Saturday, December 23, 1922, at 221 West Harvard street, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Todd, after an illness of seven weeks.

Mrs. Wilkinson was born in Kingston, Canada, August 2, 1846, and was 76 years of age. A son, Fred Wilkinson, resides in Long Beach. There are several grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, December 26, 1922, in the chapel of the Jewel City Undertaking company. Rev. J. F. Washburn of Pasadena will officiate.

CHARLES H. STANIER
Charles Harlan Stanier, 5-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stanier of 628 East Colorado street, died this morning, Saturday, December 23, 1922. Funeral arrangements have not been made by L. G. Scovern.

SLAYING OF GIRL NEARS SOLUTION

Aged Man Under Suspicion Of Murder and Woman Is His Accuser

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 23.—The engrossing boathouse murder of an unidentified 15-year-old girl last September is slowly weaving threads of circumstantial evidence about Cash Weir, aged river man, which will today justify filing a first degree murder charge, detectives stated.

An overheard conversation at the city jail last night between Earl Weir, son of the river man, and Mrs. Helen Leary, the accuser, convinces authorities of the veracity of the woman's amazing story of the brutal murder. The secret was hers for two long months and finally in desperation she confided in friends who informed the police.

The father, facing a murder charge, and the son held as an accessory, are the absolute antithesis of one another. The elder Weir, once a hard-boiled riverman, is now a pitiful old man, pleading his innocence. Young Weir, true to his calling of buckoo mate and river pilot, is defiant.

"I'll tell my story when the time comes," he said.

GLENDALE THEATRE
Realism and romance, which have been considered the unmixable oil and water of prose fiction, find no obstacle to their complete union on the screen. This is proved anew in Goldwyn's new production, "Watch Your Step," Julian Josephson's original story, featuring Cullen Landis, which plays at the Glendale theatre today.

Through the fabric of realism with which small town life is depicted in this film, runs a fine golden thread of romance that blends the whole perfectly into a harmonious picture of youth and its ambitions, escapades and heart affairs.

The romance, which is between Cullen Landis as the city youth, and Patsy Ruth Miller as the country lass, appears to all those between the ages of nine and ninety, and others.

There will also be five acts of varied vaudeville today.

Births

Mrs. Kenneth Roberts of 210 South Columbus street is the mother of a daughter born last night, Friday, December 22, 1922, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

BACK FROM STANFORD
Miss Grace Judd, daughter of Mrs. M. S. Judd of 600 East Chestnut street, returned this morning from Stanford university to spend the holidays at her home.
